

CLARK HOWELL NOT IN SENATE CONTEST. HE TELLS GOVERNOR

Believing the Appointment Should Go to South Georgia, Editor Eliminates Consideration of His Name.

ENVOYS OF CANDIDATES CONFER WITH GOVERNOR

No Decision Has Yet Been Reached, However, in the Matter of a Successor to U. S. Senator Bacon.

Clark Howell returned to Atlanta Monday to find himself, without his knowledge or consent, involved in the senatorial succession situation. Mr. Howell left the city ten days ago for a recreation trip to Florida, and while absent the death of Senator Bacon occurred. After the funeral of Senator Bacon, Mr. Howell's name was prominently mentioned through the state in connection with the succession.

When Mr. Howell reached his desk Monday morning he found hundreds of letters from all parts of the state, many containing copies of letters which the writers had sent to the governor urging the appointment.

Mr. Howell very promptly reached the conclusion that he should not permit the suggestion of his name to interfere with what he thought to be South Georgia's claim for the place, and during the day he put his views in a communication to Governor Slaton asking him the following letter:

Letter to Governor Slaton.
"February 21, 1914.
Hon. John M. Slaton, Governor, Capitol Building, City.
My Dear Governor: Upon my return to Atlanta this morning after a ten-day absence from Florida, I find many letters and telegrams urging me to allow the consideration of my name for appointment to the seat vacated by the death of the late United States Senator Bacon. I am in receipt of a large number of newspaper clippings indicating that the suggestion has been generally discussed by the press, both in and out of the state.

"While I appreciate the partiality of my friends, and the flattering expressions I feel that a prompt and positive statement of opinion is due you, as well as to the state.

"While under the laws and policy of our government the senatorial office is held by a citizen of the state, the geographical bias, the present vacancy is due to the death of a distinguished son of South Georgia, and I believe that the office should, properly, but essentially just, that his immediate successor should be chosen from that section of the state.

"In view of the personal relations existing between us, and my state and party connections, I am convinced that it is my duty to eliminate myself from the situation in order that you may be free to proceed without feeling that in connection with the appointment, you have many loyal friends and the party has many able defenders in South Georgia, and you should have little difficulty in making this honor where it will be won with credit to the state of Georgia.

"I would have written this letter sooner had I been in closer touch with the situation and the extent to which my name has been used in this connection. Very truly yours, CLARK HOWELL."

Bay Day for Governor.
Governor Slaton returned to the city on his country house Monday and spent Sunday busy at the capital—the busiest by far since the funeral of Senator A. C. Bacon.
Politicians from all parts of the state were early arrivals at the executive office, and delegation following delegation into the governor's private office for conference.

During the afternoon it became known that Clark Howell had written a letter to Governor Slaton declining the use of his name. This served to set at rest, in a measure, the stories that had been afloat.

During the day J. R. Smith addressed a letter to Governor Slaton in which he urged the appointment of former Governor Joseph M. Brown. Mr. Smith spent some time at the capital Saturday, but did not get an opportunity to talk to the governor personally about the matter.

John Broussard's name continued to be mentioned during the day, and many persons seemed to think his chances excellent.

The friends throughout the state of Colonel W. S. West, of Valdosta, are exceedingly active.

Strong mention is being given to Judge Samuel B. Adams, of Savannah, which is likewise true of Colonel Walter W. Madison and W. Osborn, of Savannah.

W. W. Banks, of Triton, and Judge N. E. Harris, of Macon, are among the distinguished Georgians whose names are frequently heard in connection with the senatorship.

W. C. Vernon, of Moultrie, has established headquarters in the city and is working hard for the appointment.

FOREIGN RESIDENTS MUST BE PROTECTED

Question of Safeguarding Foreigners Has Become a Problem of Increased International Importance.

MARINES TO BE LANDED BY JAPAN AND FRANCE

Washington Is Trying to Get the Facts About Execution of Benton—Senate to Discuss Mexico.

Washington, February 21.—Regardless of whether or not the execution of William S. Benton, a British subject, by General Villa was carried out, today's developments emphasized clearly that protection of foreigners in revolution-torn Mexico had become a commanding problem of increased international importance, appreciated no less by President Wilson than by leaders in congress. Briefly these were the day's developments.

After a conference with President Wilson, Acting Chairman Shelby, and the senate foreign relations members of the committee reached an understanding that the Mexican question, if taken up in the senate, should be discussed behind closed doors.

Pending resolutions looking to better protection for foreigners soon will be taken up by the senate.

United States Not Responsible. Discussion in the British parliament of the Benton incident was read with much interest by officials, who observed particularly that the United States was not held responsible by Sir Edward Grey for the death of Benton. The British embassy announced that the British consul at Del Rio, Texas, had been ordered to assist in the inquiry concerning Benton, but in no way to interfere with the American investigation.

Intimations were received through semi-official channels that marines would be landed by Japan and France to act as legation guards in Mexico City, along with those of Great Britain and Germany.

The Huerta government is not averse to the presence of foreign legation guards to Mexico City. It is known here officially, but the United States has not yet received word of the occurrence of other nations.

The whole tenor of the Mexican situation, while revealing no unusual activity, reflected the same anxiety and perplexing tactics which often have characterized the last days of extreme tension.

Death of Benton. Attention was chiefly focused on the investigation as to the manner in which William S. Benton died. Sir Juanes, but details of the affair still are lacking. The report which has been received from the American consul representative had not reached here late yesterday. It is expected, however, its contents have been communicated by telegraphic dispatches giving Villa's version of the case.

Just what will be the final judgment of the American senate in the case, no one will predict, but it would not be surprising to many in official circles that the explanation would be unsatisfactory in the absence of satisfactory proof. The American government may pass without indicating any judgment at all in the matter, is considered by some as a general warning about the treatment of foreigners, the violation of which, it is asserted, is a policy on the part of the United States which might expose itself to the subject of protection to foreigners.

May Ure Britons to Leave. That Great Britain may urge her subjects to leave Mexico, as did the government, is a consideration. There is some ground for the belief that the American government may express to the Mexican factions a general warning about the treatment of foreigners, the violation of which, it is asserted, is a policy on the part of the United States which might expose itself to the subject of protection to foreigners.

in Mich. Copper District.

Hancock, Mich., February 22.—Michigan national guardsmen on duty in the copper country during the early days of the mine workers' strike were the center of attack today in the testimony offered before the congressional investigating committee. Interference with strikers' parades and alleged brutal treatment of some of the participants were the principal charges made against the militiamen by the dozen witnesses introduced by the Western Federation of Miners.

Witnesses of the strikers testified that they had been kicked and beaten by deputy sheriffs and otherwise mis-treated by soldiers. Mrs. Berta Fodor charged that on July 19 last Colonel Benoit Stubbins, who was in charge of the militia, ordered her to the yard and ordered her to get out. She said she was taken to the yard and there she was kicked and beaten by the soldiers. She said she was taken to the yard and there she was kicked and beaten by the soldiers.

REAL ESTATE DEALS OF GEORGE WASHINGTON

Washington, February 21.—While the house overlooked the custom of having member read Washington's farewell address from the speaker's rostrum to commemorate the first president's birth, George Washington's participation in real estate deals at the national capital was a feature of debate today.

Representative Simpson of Mississippi, Democrat, was questioning the propriety of property owning in the capital by representatives in congress and others having to do with legislation relating to taxation of Washington real estate, when Republican Leader Mann asked if the Mississippians "meant to cast any reflection on the father of his country," who owned a great deal of land in the district.

"I do not believe the father of our country," Mann began, "that the life of the ideal thing that the people of this country have made a member of congress," replied Mr. Simpson.

"I do not believe, if what they say about the credit of the father of this country is true, that he would have developed a real estate here," Mr. Mann retorted, "that when the capital was located here he endeavored to develop it instead of opposing it."

Mr. Mann's speech was interrupted at this point to remind Mr. Simpson that Washington was never the seat of a real estate, as Mr. Simpson was president.

Leaving Police Court, Two Negresses Engage In Fight With Knives

Two negroes engaged in a bloody fight across Monday afternoon about 5 o'clock immediately after leaving Judge Broyles police court. Lizzie Foster, the wife of John Foster, 35 Congress street, was attacked by Taylor, 175 Whitehall terrace, with a razor which had been concealed on her person, cutting her throat from the back of her neck to the lower part of her chest and slitting her arm severely, because Lizzie was wearing a man's hat she thought her husband, Officer Haslett separated them immediately.

John Foster, who runs a pressing shop at No. 124 West Mitchell street, had just been tried on the charge of a blood fight being run in the back part of his pressing shop, and the judge bound him over on a $100 bond.

Lizzie Foster was a witness in this trial, being hired as a sponge in the trial in favor of her employer, earning nothing for which his wife should take offense.

The negroes were taken in custody, Lizzie Foster was taken to the hospital in order that her wounds could be treated. Her husband was fixed at $500 for both of them.

You will soon be convinced of the frank friendliness and co-operation existing between this bank and its thousands of depositors.
